VOLUME IX, NUMBER 171. LA CROSSE, WISCONSIN, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1912. PRICE TWO CENTS

On The Great White Way

NEAR-NEWS AND CHATTER FOR SATURDAY NIGHT

To the lady first correctly guessing the identity of the person of whom the following is a character sketch, and bringing a copy of this paper to The Tribune office, a cash prize of $1.00 will be given. The subject of the sketch is a prominent citizen of La Crosse. After winning one prize, a contestant will not be eligible to again compete for a period of three months.

The winner of last week's "Guess Who's Here" contest was Mrs. Bahnert, 925 Vine street, the subject of the sketch being Philip Peterson.

His hair isn't as red as Jack Weihaupt's, and he isn't as tall as Jack Weihaupt, but just the same he's a tallish fellow with reddish hair that rolls at you with impudent curls. There's a laugh in each of his eyes, and enough pep in his constitution to make it follow the flag. He goes the route, sticks for the big show, and is the only pebble on the beach if you take it from the cutest little girl for whom he's negotiating a bungalow built for two. You would never guess, to see him do the twirly whirl, that he's not a professional ham, but a hard-headed young business man clothed with authority to clothe the multitude. So many of our boys take a wife and settle in some new berg that it's pleasant to know his connubial blessedness is to take place in the eddy and whirl of La Crosse society. Somewhere in the Bible we are told that, "He who getteth a wife getteth a good thing," and we who know the joys of a domesticity the felicity of which is proof against fueling the furnace and shoveling the sidewalk enthusiastically assure him that he ott to get married.

The firm of Morris and Hartwell is the legal representative of the national association of chiropractors, and upon his return from a recent visit to Davenport, the home of the institution, Tom Morris told the following story:

"Dr." Palmer, founder of the practice, operates a great hospital in Davenport. The institution has incurred the hostility of the regular medical practitioners, who lose no opportunity to bait the chiropractic school and sanitarium. Palmer does not believe in the quarantine, declaring that the visiting physician is as good a conductor of germs as the private individual.

So when it befell that a case of smallpox broke out in the Palmer sanitarium, the health department ordered a quarantine, and an officer was sent out to put it into effect.

When the man had served the papers on Mr. Palmer, he turned to leave the place, but found the main door locked. He then tried other doors, one after another, but found no exit. At last he went to Dr. Palmer and expostulated:

"I want to get out!" he said.

"You can't," said Dr. Palmer quietly. "This place is quarantined."

In vain the officer showed his badge and threatened and pleaded, the chiropractor was obdurate. However, the health man was finally permitted to call up the health department and explain his predicament. The head of the department said he'd "come down and see about it," but upon being assured by Dr. Palmer that if he got in he couldn't get out, he veered to another tack and threatened to send the police.

"Just what I want!" said Dr. Palmer. "I'll take my chances of convincing the public through the papers that policemen and health officers can carry as many germs as other people."

Then the health officer became conciliatory, and said he'd like to raise the quarantine, but that he feared if the incident became public it would hurt discipline and weaken the health department.

"What would you suggest?" asked the officer.

"I'll tell you what I'd do," said Palmer. "I'd reverse the entire policy of the health department. I'd quit this fool quarantining of people, and QUARANTINE THE GERM."

Following upon the heels of the mysterious disappearance of the bull moose trust plank close observers are asking what has become of Dr. Furstmann's whiskers. At a casual glance one might have answered "Nothing!" but research sustains the assertion that they have disappeared.

Considerable inconvenience was occasioned the investigators by the fact that the said whiskers were so near the color of electric light rays that when the two mingled they neutralized each other, but the point has been definitely settled by an official statement in which the health officer himself declares that in his opinion his whiskers are gone. He bases this opinion upon the fact that his chin is now shaved regularly every Saturday morning, and the closest scrutiny has developed no evidence to the contrary.

The first intimation that whiskers had vanished came during a council committee meeting in which Capt. Burt Smith was opposing as useless a plan to employ photographs in "posting" inebriates in saloons.

"A man could change his appearance, and get a drink if he wanted it," said the captain. "Now if Dr. Furstmann, there, was posted he'd shave off his beard and then you couldn't tell him by his photograph."

"There's where you're wrong," said the mayor, "and I can prove it."

"Prove it!" said Captain Smith.

"Dr. Furstmann has already shaved off his beard, and you don't seem to know the difference," said His Honor.

On looking closer, Captain Smith saw his mistake. And the wet was on the captain.

It will be remembered by the oldets inhabitant that J. E. Higbee was chairman of the republican county committee regarding which a "card of thanks" was published November 6th. It will also be remembered that E. R. Burke was treasurer and referee in bankruptcy of the committee.

But not everybody knew the immensely more important fact that Jess had $100 coming to him in real money that hadn't anything to do with the campaign.

Now Mr. Higbee is nothing if not intense, and his determination to push a landslide off the track amounted to an obsession which precluded consideration of such sordid thoughts as debits and credits. And so, when in a moment of mental aberration a client walked into the office and handed him a check for $100, Jess blithely endorsed it to Mr. Burke and carried the mazuma over to the receptive treasurer.

Mr. Higbee might never have never have found out his mistake had not Secretary Kidder discovered it—and now Kidder remarks, with a smile like a deficit, that he's sorry he said a word about it.

Brought (by proxy—said proxy being held by Attorney Fred H. Hartwell) to mind, an old acquaintance, who left a more than ordinarily pleasant memory in this city and who is now building a fortune for himself in Anderson, Indiana, is Chas. Schreil, former superintendent of the assembling department of the Vote-Berger company. During a recent visit in Anderson, Mr. Hartwell remembered his old acquaintance and went to look him up. He found him assistant manager of the Remey Manufacturing company, with chances for immediate advancement.

When Mr. Schreil left La Crosse three years ago he was employed by the Dean Electric company, Elyria, Ohio, but shortly after he accepted a position with the Remey company, as foreman of the inspection department. His able handling of the affairs of his department soon won him favor with the management and he was asked to look over the manufacturing plant for the purpose of suggesting whatever changes seemed necessary to increase the efficiency of that department. As a result of his suggestions that department was enabled to turn out 400 magnetos where but 50 had been made before—this without increasing the working force or machinery. "System" was Schreil's watch word and "system" won him the assistant superintendent's job.

While in La Crosse Mr. Schreil gained something of a reputation as a life saver and his modesty alone prevented him from becoming the recipient of a Carnegie medal. His first act of heroism was the rescue of a farmer's daughter from death in a runaway. He and a party of friends were returning from a trip to Holmen when they saw a frightened team racing down the road toward them. The team ran wide

PLAN TO CHANGE INCOME TAX LAW

To Cut Out "Inquisition" and Oath Before Notary Purpose of Proposed Amendments

MAY LIBERALIZE WOMAN'S LAW

Amendment Would Permit Overtime Work in the "Rush Seasons," Says Madison "Dope"

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 30.—Although the coming session of the Wisconsin legislature will not be called upon to deal with such big measures as workmen's compensation, income tax, state insurance and state aid to highways, which made the last session notable, present signs point to the certainty of many weighty proposals for new legislation. Preparatory work looking to the introduction of bills of large importance is being done here and elsewhere.

There is, apparently, no intention by friends of the income tix principle, who are supposed to be in the majority, to change the law in any essential particular. That amendments to revive certain "obnoxious" features will be offered is absolutely certain, however, although the exact nature of the changes is not known. The tax commission, as well as the governor, admit that a shorter return, shorn of many of the present 'inquisitorial" requirements, is under consideration. The notary's signature to the return may also be done away with. It is probable the commission will propose that persons unaffected by the income tax law may be permitted to make such a declaration without appearing before the assessor. Other suggested changes include increase in the exemptions and a readjustment of exemptions for persons dependent upon taxpayers for support.

Prof. D. O. Kinsman, an economist well known for his study of taxation, proposes a change whereby the portion of the tax accruing to the state be reduced from ten to five per cent, in view of the large returns from the tax.

Insurance Rates

The special investigating committee delegated by the last legislature to make an exhaustive probe into fire insurance rates and conditions in Wisconsin is preparing its report, together with bills for introduction, but what their nature will be has not been divulged. Another form of insurance will undoubtedly be urged for adoption by the law makers. This is sickness insurance, with the state acting as surety. The republican party of the state is already pledged to put occupational disease under the workmen's compensation law, and in view of this fact sickness insurance is regarded as not very far off. Still another proposal for insurance legislation is that suggested by Insurance Commissioner H. L. Ekern, whereby a tenant must pay the city the entire cost of putting out a fire in the building he occupies, unless the fire was due to some defect in the building, in which case the expense devolves upon the owner. This is the plan in vogue in Germany.

Probably no one subject will demand more attention from the law makers than reform in the administration of the rural schools. Extensive investigations into this field have been made in the last year by the state board of public affairs and by a committee of fifteen appointed by State Superintendent C. P. Cary. One change recommended by the former agency is the election of a county board of education. Improvements in the normal school curriculums and methods of teaching will also be urged by the board of public affairs. Some studies may be dropped and others substituted. More efficiency in truancy departments is also proposed.

May Change Women's Laws

Serious consideration will be given to appeals of canners and candy manufacturers, among others, for less rigid laws on the employment of women. The state industrial commission is believed to be in sympathy with the manufacturers on this point, and will probably recommend amendments to the fifty-five hour a week law to permit women labor at such seasonal times as it is absolutely necessary to work overtime to prevent crops from spoiling. It is said that in the candy business even the women themselves favor being allowed to work overtime for short periods.

Home rule for cities, which passed at the last session, but was found unconstitutional, will assuredly come up again. A resolution to amend the constitution by providing for municipal home rule was passed at the last session, and it is believed to be certain that the next legislature will submit it to popular vote in November, 1914. All the leading political parties have endorsed home rule in their platforms.

Northern Wisconsin development promoters are planning to press a bill for passage for a thorough study of the northern portion of the state for iron ore by the Wisconsin geological and natural history survey. It is believed that ore exists in sufficiently large quantities to warrant mining, and that it is one of the state's rightful functions to determine if this is the case.

OWEN'S FATHER IS IN DOCTOR'S CARE

Prostrated with Grief Over Son's Arrest; Accused Says He Will Be Vindicated

IS RELEASED FROM JAIL TODAY

Minneapolis Girl With draws Complaint; No Further Action On Extradition Papers

Worried by the arrest of his son, William, who has been held at Central police station since Wednesday pending the action of Governor McGovern on the request for extradition papers, W. R. Owen was taken violently ill at his home, 515 North Twelfth street, late yesterday and is in a serious condition today. The young man was arrested on complaint of Miss Gertrude Strickland Minneapolis, right after his marriage to Miss Mae Phillips, daughter of a wealthy north side man, on Wednesday morning. Continual brooding over the affair has completely prostrated the father of the young man. He was delirious all last night and this morning. Dr. D. S. MacArthur, who was called to attend Mr. Owen, beyond admitting that Mr. Owen is seriously ill, declined to make further comment.

Conference in Jail

Mrs. Owen, the mother, and Mrs. Mae Phillips Owen, the bride, held a conference with the prisoner at the city jail last night. The young man insisted that he will be vindicated of the charge against him. He declared that the Minneapolis girl had been influenced by an attorney of that city to bring the complaint against him and that she is now sorry she did so. He said that when she visited him in the jail she said that she would not take part in the action against him. His statement appears to be borne out by circumstances that have developed since yesterday.

The arrival of a registered package from Minneapolis today containing two diamond rings, which belonged to the girl and which the young man is said to have pawned in Minneapolis, has apparently solved much of the difficulty. With the return of the rings, Miss Strickland declared that she is willing to drop the other complaint.

To Drop Action

A telegram from the county attorney of Hennepin county, was received by Captain Larry Dugan late this afternoon containing the information that the request for requisition papers has been dropped and no further action will be taken by the Minneapolis prosecuting attorney. This insures the release of Mr. Owen from the city jail at 3 o'clock this afternoon, the time of the expiration of the fugitive warrant which was sworn out against him yesterday.

"I will be vindicated," said the young man today. "As soon as I get out of here I am going to Canada to work at my new job. As soon as I get a start my wife will join me. My arrest has been all a mistake. Miss Strickland would never have made complaint against me unless a Minneapolis lawyer had persuaded her to. She told me that she was so sorry she had done so and that she would not make further trouble. I am sorry father took it so hard. My wife says she will stick by me and I am going to make good."

Mr. Owen's luggage which had been sent to the Phillips home was sent to the police station today by the father of the bride.

LITTLE FABLES

BY THE AD MAN.

THE FABLE OF THE FISHERMAN.

Once upon a Time, O best Beloved, there were two Men, who fain would Fish. And the Foolish Fisherman did bestir himself Mightily, and took unto Himself very fancy Fishing Tackle, and right dizzy Bait of loud Colors. And having thus equipped Himself, he took thought, and said: "Behold, I will not waste precious Time in Angling, but will devote two or three entire days to real Fishing, and with my High-class Bait I will make great Catches. But behold, his Rod was too Shiny, and his Bait was too Brilliant, and the Fish were frightened, and he caught nothing but a few Suckers. But he puffed up with Pride, and said: "I am a great Fisherman."

But the Wise Fisherman made no such Preparations, but took a very common Rod, with an ordinary Line, and used Worms, such as the Fish like, and betook Himself to the Brook bright and Early for a little while each Morning while the Biting was good, and Behold, he returned each time with a nice String of good Fish.

SAYS M'GOVERN LED HIS SLATE

Executive Clerk Wilbur Issues Statement that "Mac" Ran Ahead of Ticket

SAYS HE'S BEEN TREATED BADLY

Declares that Attempts Have Been Made to Give People Impression He Ran Behind

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 30.—(Special.)—That Governor Francis E. McGovern led his ticket in the recent election and polled more votes than any other candidate seeking the suffrage of the people of Wisconsin is pointed out in a statement, based on the officialy returns in the office of the secretary of state, issued this morning by Executive Clerk Harry Curran Wilbur. Mr. Wilbur's statement follows:

"Governor McGovern led his ticket in the recent election by from 766 to 2826 votes.

"This is proven by the official figures now on file in the office of the secretary of state.

"At the outset it should be understood clearly that this statement is not made for the mere purpose of comparing the vote cast for Governor McGovern with that polled by any other candidate. It is issued only because ever since the election an apparently systematic effort has been made to convey the impression that the governor ran behind his ticket, and because, in the interests of fairness and simple justice, it is high time that an end be put to a campaign of persistent misrepresentation. The facts in the case are as follows:

766 More Than Morris

"A total of 179,560 votes were cast for Governor McGovern. This is 766 more votes than were cast for Lieut. Governor Morris, who polled 178,694 votes. It exceeds the poll of State Treasurer-elect Johnson by 1,034, Mr. Johnson's total vote being 178,326. The governor leads Secretary of State-elect Donald by 1,875 votes, the latter having polled a total of 177,487 votes. The vote for Attorney General-elect Owen was 176,554, or 2,826 less than that cast for Governor McGovern.

"Pluralities, which have been dwelt upon in the apparent effort to prove that the governor ran behind his ticket, as a matter of fact prove nothing but the relative strength of candidates directly opposing one another. A candidate leads his ticket if he polls a higher total vote than any other candidate on the ticket with him; he falls behind his ticket only when he polls less votes than the candidates running on the same ticket with him. Pluralities have no bearing whatever on this question.

'Every political battle, unless some exceptional condition exists, is waged principally around the heads of the contesting tickets. This was the condition in Wisconsin this year, as an analysis of the vote shows. These figures follow:

The total vote cast for governor in Wisconsin this year was 393,849. The total poll for lieutenant-governor was 381,709, a falling off of more than 12,000 votes. The total vote for secretary of state was 378,341, a further decrease of approximately 3,000. The vote for state treasurer totalled 379,284, more than 14,000 less than that cast for governor, while the total vote for attorney general was 377,626, or over 16,000 less than that polled by the heads of the tickets.

"The democratic candidate for governor led his ticket by from 10,000 to 13,000 votes. Governor McGovern, as stated, led his ticket by from 766 to 2,826 votes. These figures prove conclusively that from ten to thirteen thousand men voted for the democratic nominee for governor and for no other state candidates whatsoever. This is evident, because if they had voted for the democratic gubernatorial nominee and for the republican nominee for the minor offices then the republican candidates for state office, from lieutenant-governor down, would have led Governor McGovern by approximately from ten to thirteen thousand votes instead of running from 700 to 2800 votes behind him, as actually happened. Similarly, on the republican side of the ledger from 700 to 2800 voted for Governor McGovern and for no other candidate for state offices. The falling off on the democratic side, being from ten to thirteen thousand while that on the republican side was one ranging only from 700 to 2800 is the reason for the discrepancy in pluralities."

The official election returns of the state at the last election were certified by the state board of canvassers yesterday morning. The board is made up of Secretary of State Frear, State Treasurer Dahl and Attorney General Bancroft.

The state returns follow, the candidates being named in order—Democrat, prohibition, republican and socialist.

For governor—Total, 393,849; Karel, 167,316; Hill, 9,433; McGovern 179,360; Thompson, 34,468; Curtis, 3,253.

For lieutenant-governor — Total,

NATURAL CHANNEL IS ON THIS SIDE

Engineers Make Unfavorable Report on Proposed Change at Dakota and Dresbach

TOWNS HAVE THE RIGHT TO APPEAL

Question May Be Taken to Board of Engineers on Rivers at Washington

Declaring that the natural trend of the Mississippi river threw the channel toward the Wisconsin shore near Dakota and Dresbach and that an attempt to change the channel to the Minnesota side would mean the abandonment of about $100,000 worth of work, the engineers who have been investigating the complaint of the citizens in the two towns have made an unfavorable report on the proposed changes, according to a letter received by Congressman John J. Esch from Major C. Keller of Rock Island, Ill., today. The letter states further that if the citizens of these towns are not yet satisfied they have the right to appeal to the board of engineers for rivers and harbors in Washington.

The letter is given in full as follows:

"Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 29, 1912.

"Hon. John J. Esch,

"La Crosse, Wis.

"Sir: 1. It having come to the notice of the undersigned that you have expressed an interest in the pending proposition for the improvement of the Mississippi river, Dakota to Dresbach, Minn., you are hereby informed that the preliminary examination of the locality named, with a view to certain improvements therein, authorized by the act of congress approved July 25, 1912, has been made, and that the report submitted thereon is unfavorable to the improvement.

"2. You are further notified that all interested parties have the privilege of an appeal from this conclusion to the board of engineers for rivers and harbors, a permanent body sitting at Washington, D. C., to which all examination and survey reports of this character are referred. Parties desiring to do so may be heard on appeal by the board either orally or in writing. Written communications should be addressed to the board of engineers for rivers and harbors, rooms 507-510 Colorado building, Washington, D. C., and should be mailed in time to be in the possession of the said board within three weeks from the date of this communication. If oral hearings are desired, dates for the same may be arranged for by correspondence with the board.

"3. You are requested to communicate the foregoing to any persons known by you to be interested in the improvement and who, not being known to this office, do not receive a copy of this communication.

"4. The unfavorable report on bringing the channel along the Minnesota shore from Dakota to Dresbach, is based upon the fact that the channel never took that course; that the natural trend of the river was always opposed to it; that it would be almost impracticable to create and maintain such a channel; that the method adopted has been exceptionally successful and of great use to through navigation and demanded bly it; that when completed, the proposed six foot channel will be secured; and that to change the plans at this date would involve the abandonment of about $100,000 worth of advantageous work.

"Very respectfully,

(Signed) "C. KELLER,

"Major, Corps of Engineers."

COMPANY GETS INJUNCTION

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Judge E. Ray Stevens, Dane county circuit court, today granted a temporary injunction restraining the railroad commission from enforcing its recent order requiring the Duluth Street Railway company to issue six tickets for a quarter on the Superior lines. A bond of $15,000 is required of the company to carry out its obligation to redeem an extra coupon in case the railroad commission decision is upheld.

CAVE-IN KILLS THREE

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 30.—Three men were killed shortly after noon today when 25 feet of the side of a ditch in which they were working at the City filtration plant, at Aspinwall tumbled on top of them. Several others had narrow escapes. The fellow workmen frantically plied their shovels to rescue the men, but while life was not extinct, they died soon on their way to hospitals.

ALLIES AGREE ON TERMS WITH TURKS

Officially Announced that Balkan States Have Secured Sultan's Submission

ALBANIA BECOMES A REPUBLIC

New State Recently Declared Independent Decides on Representative Government

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 30.—That the terms of a temporary peace agreement have been decided on by the Turkish and Balkan allies' representatives was officially announced through the Ottoman telegraph agency today. It was said the formal agreement will not be signed before night.

Albania a Republic

PARIS, Nov. 30.—With the proclamation of Ismael Kemael Bey as provisional president, Albania was considered here today as having definitely taken its place in the family of Europe nations.

It was the general assumption, when the Albanians declared their country's independence, that another small principality or possibly a kingdom would be established. The republicans trimphed, however, and the outside governments most deeply interested in the country's future evidently were satisfied for no protests have yet been heard from any quarter.

Of course in saying that outside governments were satisfied the government of Servia which wants a slice of Albania to give the Servians access to the coast of the Adriatic, must be excepted.

Durazzo Free

It was hoped, however, that President Ismail's offer to make Durazzo a free port so far as Servian trade is concerned, would prove sufficient. The arrangement, it was unofficially stated in Vienna, was approved by the Austrian government.

The only really ominous feature of the situation today was the revelation of the unceremoniousness with which the Servians treated Consul Prochaska of Austria when they captured Prizrend.

The deciphering of the consul's report of what happened between November 4 and 27 has not yet been completed by the Vienna foreign office but there was no question that the Servians were guilty of a gross breach of diplomatic customs.

Prochaska Imprisoned

So far as can be learned, Prochaska was subjected to no actual mistreatment, but it was certain that he was detained, practically a prisoner, at Prizrend for many days before, yielding to Austrian pressure, the Servians finally sent him under escort to Uskub. The dispatches which he sent even from there to Vienna were either entirely suppressed or mutilated in transmission, in addition to which the reports purported to have been prepared by him, but which the Servians really forged, were delivered at the Austrian foreign office.

The Servian civil authorities, however, have already repudiated responsibility for the Prochaska affair, declaring that if the orders they sent to Prizrend had been obeyed there would have been no cause for complaint. Austria certainly will demand the punishment of the army officers who disregarded these instructions, and it is the possibility that the Servian troops will not permit this that constitutes the real danger.

Nicholas Takes Charge

CETTINJE, Nov. 30.—King Nicholas of Montenegro assumed personal charge today of the siege of Scutari. He has been annoyed at the Turkish city's prolonged resistance, both as a reflection on the Montenegrins' prowess as will prejudice Montenegro's chance of getting what it wants from Turkey in the peace negotiations.

Servian Prince Ill

BELGRADE, Nov. 30.—Prince George of Servia brought back from the front with typhoid was reported dangerously ill today.

P. C. RYCHMAN DIES

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Paul C. Rychman, for forty years cashier of the New York Produce Exchange, died early today. A year ago he retired on a pension because of ill health.

"THE GIRL AND THE DRUMMER"

The author of "The Girl and the Drummer" has seized the psychological moment and written a play of modern life, that is so direct as to be somewhat startling at times, and in the hands of a less skillful author, might go beyond the bounds set by the conveniences. The story is one oft told. A successful New York business man, who is also a moral pervert, visits a health resort in Colorado, and lures a young and trusting girl from the paths of rectitude. In seeking to redress her wrongs, she falls in love with a dashing young commercial traveler, and what is begun as a passing flirtation, develops into mutual love and in the final denouement, results in a tragedy for both.

The play, while distinctly a comedy, and wrought on the lines of all successful comedy, rises in its climaxes to heights of the more serious drama.

"EASY MONEY"

Miss Irene Daniel, the talented actress who will be seen here for an engagement at the La Crosse theater on Wednesday, December 4, when she appears in the leading role of the latest dramatic success, 'Easy Money," is a voracious reader and in her private car on which she travels invariably has a library of five thousand volumes. No one occupies the Pullman except Miss Daniel and her maids and the "living room," as she calls the big compartment in which she reads, is lined with many shelves all filled with books. The decorations are of Indian style, Miss Daniel having quite a penchant for early American Curios. Many of her choicest works are concerning the early history of America and she has madle a close study of Indian ethnology.

THE ARRIVAL OF THE AIRMAN

The arena is the beautiful harbor of Monico.

The contestants are not those found in stadiums, prize rings, gridirons or baseball diamonds.

This arena is as vast as the empire of sea and air.

The gladiators, if such they may be termed, are not matcaing their physical prowess, strength and endurance, but rather the achievements of man's ingenuity and skill in his conquest of air and sea. For this is a contest—an actual and perilous race betwen a hydroplane and motor boats—which will be reproduced by Lyman H. Howe at the La Crosse heater Saturday and Sunday, December 7 and 8, two matinees and two nights, and a race that embodies every element of skill, danger and daring that could be conceived.

OFFICER 666"

"Officer 666" is a melodramatic farcical stage film with a word plot of laughs and thrills that is shot out with the rapidity of a Hotchkiss field piece storming an enemy's entrenchment. And the audience that it attracts! My goodness, how they do enjoy it! The stout ones chortle over the swift fun and gasp at the thrill punctuations. The matinee girls are intensely interesting in the handsome picture pilferer, who they hope will get away with the swag, and when the prince of scamps is finally caught, vote him the dearest villain that has ever had his thumb prints photographed.

"Officer 666" comes to the La Crosse theater on Monday evening, December 9, for but the one performance.

CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

Sweetens their stomachs and cleans the liver and waste-clogged bowels without griping.

Every mother immediately realizes after giving her child delicious Syrup of Figs that this is the ideal laxative and physic for the children. Nothing else regulates the little one's stomach, liver and 30 feet of tender bowels so promptly, besides they dearly love its delightful fig taste.

If your child isn't feeling well; resting nicely; eating regularly and acting naturally it is a sure sign that its little insides need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

BULL MOOSE TO MEET IN CHICAGO

Third Party Will Get Together and Map Out Its Plans for the Future

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—"Col. Roosevelt will certainly attend the conference of the progressive party at Chicago on December 10 and 11, and Governor Johnson of California may do so," announced Senator John M. Dixon, national chairman of the bull moose, today, outlining the future plans of the party.

"I have issued a call to all members of the national committee, all state chairmen; all candidates for governor at the recent election; about 25 progressive congressmen elected and state legislators from various states.

The naming of an executive committee will be authorized by this conference and the committee to draft a series of bills carrying out the platform pledges on questions of social and industrial justice made by the party. A progressive party caucus in congress will support these bills.

The Chicago conference will also consider ways and means of conducting the progressive propaganda during the next four years. In this discussion Colonel Roosevelt will take part simply as one of the leaders of the movement.

"So far as I am aware there are no differences among the leaders of the party which could justify the statement that Mr. Pinchot or Garfield is seeking to oust Mr. Perkins from leadership. Some newspapers have been very bitter, but the fact should be kept in mind that no attitude has been taken by any one man prominent in the movement which would justify this assumption of disagreement."

DOCTORS ENDORSE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE FOR THE HAIR

When a doctor endorses a preparation it means more than an ordinary testimonial. His opinion is always that of the professional man devoted to the welfare of the people.

Dr. J. J. Boyd, Covington, Tenn., says: "I feel it my duty to write this for the benefit of those suffering from dandruff. In the average case a few applications of Newbro's Herpicide will remove all dandruff. It is advisable to continue its use for several weeks."

The words of J B. Thompson, M. D., No. 2 Burrough Place, Cor. Hollis St., Boston, Mass., are not less enthusiastic: "I can only speak in praise of Newbro's Herpicide. It is all that is claimed and perhaps more. Herpicide not only cleanses the scalp but brightens the hair, gives it life and makes it soft."

Dr. T A. Moore, Duncan, Ariz., writes of his experience: "My scalp was in places covered by patches of dry, scaly material and the itching was incessant. Since using Herpicide all these evils have disappeared and my hair is soft, smooth and growing. Hair has grown on spots before but thinly covered."

Newbro's Herpicide is the original remedy to kill the dandruff germ and stop falling hair. The terrible itching which goes with dandruff is allayed almost at once.

pplications may be obtained at the leading barber shops. Be sure you get genuine Herpicide. Send 10c in postage for sample and book to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded. Hoeschler Bros., Special Agents.

SMALL INCOME TAX BE EMASCULATED

Madison advices have it that the "inquisitorial" feature of the income tax which has been worrying, not a great many people, but a few people greatly, may be "obliterated" by amendment in the approaching legislative session, and that "the notary's signature may be done away with."

Friends of the law want in it no embarrassing features not essential to its efficiency, but they should look to it well that amendments ostensibly increasing the convenience of the statute do not render it worthless. Certain facts must be known to the state in order that the tax may be ascertained and collected; certain precautions must be taken to compel the divulgence of the facts.

If to "do away with the notary's signature" contemplates removing the penalty for falsification the amendment would be a fatal mistake.

The fact is there isn't any feature of the income tax more "inquisitorial" than features of other laws, and the demands of business exigencies.

Your bankers know the inside facts about your business; the probate of an estate is a complete exposure, and IT IS ACCESSIBLE IN THE RECORDS OF THE COUNTY COURT; the corporation tax law requires filing of full information; the industrial commission compels complete statements within its discretion.

The income tax law does not compel a more complete statement of one's affairs than these, or combinations of these, and the income tax official is sworn to secrecy. We quote the essential paragraph from the law, section 1087m—24:

"No commissioner, assessor of incomes, deputy, member of a county board of review, or any officer, agent, clerk or employe shall divulge or make known to any person in any manner except as provided by law any information whatsoever obtained directly or indirectly by him in the discharge of his duties or permit any income return or copy thereof or any paper or book so obtained to be seen or examined by any person except as provided by law."

The exceptions "provided by law" to which reference is made are shown in paragraph 4 of the section, which reads:

"Nothing herein shall be construed as preventing the assessment roll, the tax roll and all proceedings had before the county board of review and all evidence taken at such hearing from being open to public inspection at such times and under such conditions as the state tax commission may direct."

A fine of from $100 to $500, and dismissal from office, is prescribed for violation of this law, and the culprit is barred from holding any public office for a term of three years.

Under this law Mr. Keizer positively refused to permit the county board of equalization to inspect income tax returns in his office.

The only thing accessible to the public under the income tax is the net income and the assessment of the individual. The exemptions and other data are not included, and deductions drawn from what the tax roll shows would be entirely speculative, even were anyone "nosey" enough to attempt examination of the affairs of others.

Frankness would probably compel the confession that the twist on the donkey's tail is the oath the income tax law requires men to make as to their holdings. One is apt to be more accurate—and profane—in making a sworn statement (with perjury penalty attached) than in an informal talk with a neighborly assessor. As a result tax dodging becomes a hazardous venture, and the law's curiosity becomes an "inquisition."

Anyway, what dishonor or embarrassment is there in an honest income, or in the sources of an honest income? If we had a dishonest income from questionable sources, or had been dodging honest personal property taxes, we would object most strenuously to the "inquisition." But we submit that the honest people, here and there, whose sensitive natures revolt at the necessity of taking the government into their confidence regarding perfectly honest business affairs, are making a mountain out of a mole hill, to the advantage of nobody but the class of tax dodgers who want the hue and cry swelled in order that timid officials may be terrorized.

We have it from Mr. Keizer that not one person in La Crosse county has sought even the limited information which the law makes available about the income taxes of fellow citizens.

SHOWING THE GIRLS THE EASIEST WAY

"The wages I was able to earn amounted to a grim joke."

This is what led Maud Wilbur of New York to become a shoplifter in the big stores of New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago. After a career filled with hair-breadth escapes that would make the average boy desperado's hair stand on end, she was arrested in Cleveland where she has served a ten months' sentence.

Her confession and her advice to girls come from the heart. She had everything she wanted when a girl, but married against the consent of her parents, was soon abandoned and thrown on her own resources. Here she takes up the narrative by saying:

"I got work in a store and discovered that either I had to steal to get presentable clothes or accept the proffered friendship of men inside or outside the store. The wages I was able to earn amounted to a grim joke. As against the men, I chose to become a thief, and while I am 'down and out' as they say on the street, I prefer jail to some other things.

"I have spirit and some honor, the best kind, left. No person can take these from me. Of course, the criminal life don't pay, and I think I have learned that lesson. With the valuable lessons in life learned in the last two years, I am planning to start anew when I have served whatever sentence is imposed upon me here."

There is a deeper lesson in Mrs. Wilbur's confession than is often admitted by those who are interested in welfare work. When a girl has to work for wages which are, as she says, a grim joke, the ordinary lessons on frugality and right living sound like mockery. No girl can face life unaided without being brought face to face with the two temptations which this girl found. She is required to dress well or lose her job. If she is not given a living wage, she must be strong indeed to withstand the temptations which surround her.

A living wage is her only safeguard, and those who are interested in welfare work realize this more and more. Preaching will not suffice. Wages and hours are the bottom of the whole problem which confronts the working woman.

LET FARMERS NAME WILSON'S SUCCESSOR

The Society of Equity is urging upon President-elect Wilson the selection of J. A. Everitte, of Indianapolis, to succeed James Wilson as secretary of agriculture. The logic and force with which the society is making its contentions should go far toward convincing Dr. Wilson that the appointment of a man who knows the farmers and their needs as well as the possibilities and needs of the country is advisable. We have been deeply impressed by the arguments disseminated by Mr. A. R. Carhart, who is devoting himself assiduously to the campaign. After Wilson, there is real work ahead of the new secretary, and the voice of the farmers should be heard in the matter of a choice. They didn't have much to say in the appointment of "Tama Jim," nor in his long desired retirement. Now they should at least be permitted to "get a word in edgewise."

Beer with an egg is now a popular New York drink. Considering the eggs likely to be handed out in a beer saloon, is it any wonder New York has made a new record for homicides?

Col. Bryan, on reaching a hotel in Washington the other night, had the porter place on his door a sign reading "Mr. Bryan has retired." Politicians are wondering what he meant.

Counted Them All

A little time ago a farmer who was very short handed had been compelled to engage a town boy, whose knowledge of agriculture and kindred subjects was extremely limited. One day he sent the youth to a newly sown field to see if there were any birds stealing the seed. When the boy returned from the field his master asked if there were any birds there. The boy said he counted twenty-two.

"Well, did you drive them away, my boy?" asked the farmer.

"No, no, sir," replied the astonished lad. "I thought they belonged to you."

In a recent debate at the Wichita high school the woman suffrage amendment was under discussion.

"It would be unwise to give woman the ballot," declared a bidding Daniel Webster in attacking the proposition. "Woman could not be relied upon to exercise good judgment in voting. She changes her mind far too often."

The next speaker was a young woman. She arose and cast a pitying glance at her opponent.

"I would like to ask my honorable opponent," she cooed sweetly, "if he ever tried to change a woman's mind once it was made up?"

The young woman got the decision.—Kansas City Journal.

Well Watered

A farmer showing a prospective buyer over some potato fields informed him that he never troubled to water his ground. "How is it," queried the visitor, "that the ground is so damp?" "Well," replied the farmer, "I plant one row of potatoes and then one of onions, the onions causing the eyes of the potatoes to water."

City Orders

The bank, in consequence of a farmer's failure, had to finance a large farm, and last spring the man they had put in charge of it wired to the London manager of the bank: "Lambing begins next month. If drought continues will result in total loss."

"Postpone lambing till further orders," wired back the resourceful London manager.—London Opinion.

"This is the story:

"A very deaf old man was shooting squirrels down Wiscasset way. A stranger happened along and said:

"'Old man, which is the road to Wiscasset?'

"The deaf old fellow, failing to understand, answered:

"'That's one—thar's a squirrel—settin' up thar on that tree. See him?'

"'I didn't ask you about the squirrels,' said the stranger impatiently, "I asked you which was the road to Wiscasset?'

"'Yep,' said the deaf old huntsman, excitedly. 'Yep, thar's another, too, jest apeekin' outer that knothole.'

"Then the stranger, losing his patience, roared:

"'You're a fool!'

"'Yep, the woods is full of 'em,' said the old man, complacently."—Washington Star.

PUBLIC DEBATE

The Right Man For Wilson's Job

The one progressive leader of agricutural ideals available now for secretary of agriculture is J. A. Everitte, of Indianapolis, president of the Farmers' Society of Equity. Equity men and soil owners are making themselves heard on the subject.

The appointment of Everitte would mean an attempt to bring about the following things:

The department would mean government supervision of the productive resources of the entire country.

Government consideration of the most elaborate distributing and selling system yet devised, of which Everitte is the author.

Government action to discontinue such conditions and practices as are now used to fluctuate prices that make the results of labor uncertain and disappointing, to wit: Monthly reports by the department, which at best are but guesses and always lower prices as the farmers' success becomes apparent, and are only valuable as a directory to speculation; the dealings in futures by Boards of Trade and others.

Such revision of currency as will take it entirely out of the hands of corporations and under control of the government where there can be no such thing as panic or scarcity or manipulation for purposes of speculation or fluctuation of values, thus promoting stability of prices which relieves not only productive labor but all legitimate business of its chief causes of anxiety, unrest and failure.

The above proposition conserves the only creative source of sustenance and would soon relieve the people of poverty and then of their ignorance, after which all progressive achievement is possible.

THE MARRIAGE OF CAPTAIN KETTLE

By C. J. Cutcliffe Hynne.
Copyright The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

"Captain, I don't talk scandal. But this is a business matter, and as I am a business lady, and have put you on to it, I think it's right you should know. Her ladyship is Sir George's little cross; and if she can't get on with a man like that, my opinion of her is that she's no beter than she ought to be. But there's no getting over the fact that she leads him a dog's life of it when she's down here at the Hall; and when she's in London by what one reads in the papers, her goings-on are too rapid to be respectable. She's on the Riveera at present, gambling away our rents at Monte Carlo; and if Sir George wants to be safely off on a yachting trip by the time she gets back to England, I'm sure I'm not blaming him. And mark you, Captain, as I've told you more than once, my idea is that when a man marries a lady he should as a rule stick to her, whether, in the words of the Bible, she turns out better than he expected or worse than he dared to hope."

"But her ladyship's the limit, and if poor Sir George chooses to take himself and his purse out of her reach, I'd be the last to blame him. Oh, my word, here he is! I do hope he hasn't heard us talking."

Sir George Chesterman, as Mr. Kettle saw him then, was a burly, upstanding, tired-looking man of five-and-forty. He wore baggy weather-beaten country clothes, and had a face browned and lined by the wind and the sun. He had a retriever and a fat spaniel at his heels, and the easy manner of a man accustomed every day to meet all grades of the population.

"Well, Miss Dubbs, here I am; prompt to the hour, you see. And so you've managed to bring your nautical friend up to the scratch?" He nodded pleasantly. "You haven't wasted much time either."

"Yes, this is Captain Kettle, Sir George."

"Then suppose we sit down and see what we can arrange. I understand that you've let the sea look after itself for the last year or so, Captain, and taken a turn at civil engineering?"

"I've been on the railroad works as timekeeper, sir, a very subordinate position, for just five months. I met with a little misfortune, sir, at sea, which I'd rather not explain unless you press me for it; but it had nothing to do with my own professional competency, and my ticket was not dealt with, and indeed no inquiry was held that I ever heard about. There are my certificates, sir, if you care to look at them."

"We'll take them as read for the present. I'm afraid I must speak in rather a guarded way for the time being. You see, I don't know you, and, for that matter, you don't know me. Indeed, to begin with, I may as well tell you that this is no ordinary humdrum trip that I've got in mind. It will be a case of sailing from here in a small steamboat with sealed orders; and from a professional point of view, I don't see that it can possibly lead up to much in the way of promotion after the job's done."

"That doesn't sound very encouraging, sir. You see, I'm young, and I don't want to get any marks on my ticket."

"You'd be a fool if you did. Moreover, here's another point: the business anyway will be risky, and very possibly will be highly dangerous."

Mr. Kettle squared his shoulders. "You needn't bring that into the account, sir," he snapped. "As I never suffered from nervousness as a mate, it isn't likely I should begin to shake at the knees if you're kind enough to promote me to be skipper. In fact," he added with a little sigh, "when troubles come along, it's mostly like meat and drink to me."

Sir George laughed rather hardly. "I should have thought that under existing circumstances you wouldn't want too much excitement to season your every-day meal. You ought to hanker after a humdrum, steady-going job with the maximum of screw and the minimum of risk."

"I know I should, sir. I know I should. But I can't help the way I'm built, however much I may regret it. Is the business gun-running?"

"I hadn't thought of that, though we might add it as a side issue. No, in one word, Captain, it's salvage. The story's a bit of an unlikely one, though I've gathered it happens with regularity at least twice or thrice a year. A steamer was coming home from a foreign port, and cargo shifted. As a point of fact, she was loaded with copper matte—copper concentrates, if you like it better—worth some thirty-five pounds a ton, and she'd four thousand three hundred tons' deadweight of it on board. If you work that out, you get into big figures in pounds sterling."

"One hundred fifty thousand, five hundred pounds," said Miss Dubbs, who by reason of her exacting profession was of necessity a lightning calculator.

"Good. And then you must add on anything between twenty and sixty thousand pounds for the steamer, according to the condition in which one finds her. Well, Captain, she's been reported a total loss, and Lloyd's have paid on her as such. The whole tale is quite understandable, I'm told."

"Quite. A breeze came on — a breeze abeam, and the old man daren't put her nose on to it because the chief told him that if she raced badly, either her engines would tie themselves up in knots, or else she'd drop her propeller overboard. So he kept her plugging along her course, and she rolled so badly that presently the cargo began to shift. That gave her a list to leeward, and every sea that hit her on the tall side sent more cargo sagging over, and the list got worse. The cargo being the copper ore you speak about, sir, they probably got hands below to do a bit of trimming, and when she rolled men got thrown down to leeward, and the heavy lumps fell in cascades down on top of them till most of them were crushed into a kind of pink beef jelly, and the rest cleared out on deck, and neither guns nor belaying-pins could drive them below again."

"You seem to know the symptoms, Captain."

"You see, sir, I was shipmaster with a shifted cargo myself once. Coal it was."

"Well?"

"Oh, we got a tarpaulin on her aft, and that blew her stern round till she'd answer to the helm and show her other side to the sea, and that trimmed her again. Lord, but when that coal did cascade across, I thought it would go slap through her rotten old plates into the North Sea."

"Well, and what about the threatened ore boat?"

"Oh, they didn't know enough to get her round, or tried and couldn't do it, or the old coffee-mill broke down and she lost her way and kept getting badly swep, or a dozen other things might have happened. But, anyway, the crew decided they had not sufficient interest on board to stay there and get drowned, and they made off in the boats, and whether the after-guard were weak-backed enough to go with them, you know, sir, better than I do."

Take Blackburn's CascaRoyal-Pills, that never gripe nor sicken. One each night as a laxative. Two or three as a cathartic. After a few weeks' use the trouble is usually corrected. Try a 10c pkg. just once and you'll want no other—they are so prompt and pleasant.—Advertisement.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

[From a series of elaborate chemical tests.]

Comparative digestibility of food made with different baking powders:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

99 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with phosphate powder:

67½ Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67 Per Cent. Digested

Royal Baking powder raised food is shown to be of greatly superior digestibility and healthfulness.

Daniel McGaughey of this city, employed in the baggage office at North McGregor, was a principal in an exciting affair while on duty a few night ago. Three or four tramps loitering about the railroad yards took from a baggage truck a trunk belonging to a traveling salesman, carried it some distance from the depot platform, broke it open and were dividing its contents when Daniel apprehended them, gave the alarm and captured two of the men. The stolen goods were all secured. North McGregor is reported to have had a number of hold ups and burglaries by tramps during the past month.

MYSTERY IN DEATHS

PHYSICIAN FOUND DEAD AFTER HE IS ACCUSED OF CAUSING DEMISE OF GIRL. BY OPERATION

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 30. — The mystery surrounding the death of Miss Maud White, aged 28, housekeeper of M. W. Trester, was increased today when Dr. J. F. Herrington was found dead here in his bed shortly before noon. The cause of his death has not been made public.

Miss White died Wednesday morning and arrangements were made for her funeral today.

Last night, however, her brother demanded to see the body and when permission was refused him, he appealed to the coroner, who stopped the funeral and took charge of the remains. He charged that she had died as the result of an operation. Dr. Herrington denied this but his statements were declared by the police to be conflicting. The physician asserted that the woman had died of peritonitis.

Famous "Pint of Cough Syrup" Receipt

No Better Remedy at Any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and ½ pint of warm water and stir for two minutes. Put 2½ ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold instantly, and will usually stop the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, throat tickle, sore lungs and asthma, and an unequaled remedy for whooping cough and croup.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is a prime favorite in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this recipe.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

STEEL STRIKERS SEEK CONVERTS

Men in Homestead Mills Declare 10,000 Will Go Out if Company Hires Strikebreakers

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 30.—Tense feeling was evident among the strikers at the Carnegie Steel company plants at Braddock and Homestead today when reports that the company will attempt operations in all its departments tomorrow afternoon by importing additional strikebreakers, were discussed.

Such action will result in the walkout of 10,000 of the 16,000 men employed in the mills, declared some of the strikers.

A committee of six of the striking trainmen today are on a "secret mission," for which $75 was raised to defray their expenses yesterday. This "secret mission" is probably nothing more or less than missionary work in other plants in the district. It is known that trainmen in the Monessen and the Mingo Junction plants of the steel corporation have ben visited by strikers and may become involved in the trouble.

Of the 31 strikebreakers taken into the Braddock plant yesterday ten left, declaring that the situation had been misrepresented.

THINK DOCTOR SUICIDE

POLICE SAY PHYSICIAN KILLED SELF WHEN GIRL DIED AFTER HE PERFORMED ILLEGAL OPERATION

Physicians who performed the autopsy on Miss White's body today reported that death was the result of a criminal operation.

WILSON WANTS ADVICE

PRESIDENT-ELECT WILL CONFER WITH BRYAN AND OTHER LEADERS ON CABINET AND LEGISLATION

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 30.—That the conference President-elect Wilson has asked for with William Jennings Bryan on the former's return to the United States will only be one of a number the president-elect will hold individually with various democratic party leaders, was believed here today. The subjects it is expected will be discussed are cabinet selections and prospective legislation.

Phoenician Relics Found in Spain.

A few days ago further tombs were discovered, and one contained a fossilized skeleton. Golden amulets, rings and seals have also been found.

Keeping Them Off.

"Do you consider such a marriage as that of a man so confirmed a drunkard as Jaggs to a circus performer, a fitting one?" "A perfectly fit marriage. She's a snake charmer."

Not Really His Fault.

"I kept an eye on her until Saturday," said a seafaring man, referring to his wife, "and then she slipped her cable while I was on duty."

Pretty Sure.

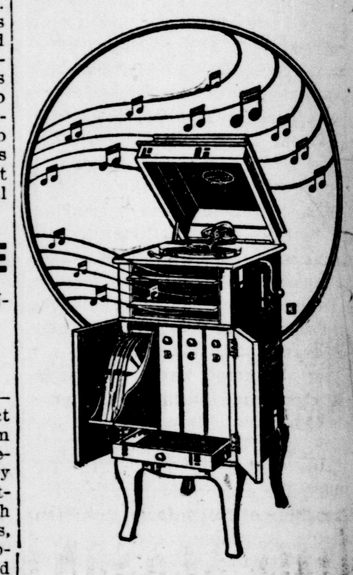

Whenever a man is threatened by the deep sea he is pretty sure to find the devil on the other side of him.

GIRL ACCUSES PARSON

HE SAYS HE ONLY SPANKED 9 YEAR OLD CHILD BUT SHE TELLS DIFFERENT STORY

WALTHALL, Miss., Nov. 30.—With the jail heavily guarded to prevent a threatened lynching, Rev. A. Nix is held here today charged with an attempted assault upon a little nine year old girl, a member of his Sunday school class. Nix asserts that he merely spanked her for not knowing her Bible lesson, but the child tells a different story.

Rev. Nix poses as a "sanctified" or "holiness" preacher and had a big following here up to the time of his indictment. He had many peculiarities. Members of his congregation were required to remove their shoes before entering the church and collected a tax from all who used tobacco or liquor.

Senator Cummins has charge of the amendment providing for a six-year non-re-election term for the president of the United States, which will probably pass the senate early in the session and be taken up by the house

WISCONSIN NEWS

TO STOP ADDITION TO DAM AT BYRON

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 30.—Gov. McGovern on Friday directed the attorney general to start action to restrain the owners of Byron dam, across the Wisconsin river in Wood county, from raising it to a height greater than eight feet. It is proposed by the owners of the dam to raise it to fifteen feet above the low water mark. The people of Grand Rapids, Wis., complained that this would drive the water back three miles along the river and result in serious damage to property. They assert that the company has not secured a permit from the legislature to raise the dam higher than eight feet above low water mark.

NAVY BEATS ARMY BY 6 TO 0 SCORE

West Pointers Beaten in Annual Game by a Narrow Margin

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—For the third successive year the Navy beat the Army in the annual game of Uncle Sam's two branches of the fighting service by a score of 6 to 0. Two field goals turned the trick.

Neither side was able to score in the first half of the seventeenth annual Army-Navy game here today. The teams were about evenly matched as fas as weight and speed went, although a soft field hampered several runs which had elements of sensation in their starts.

The government's weather man ordered a clear, warm day for the battle. Enthusiasm ran high. The Middies cheered their rivals from the Hudson. The West Pointers responded by sending a highly decorated army mule on a trip around the field, which was a bit soggy, the parading of several hundred making it no firmer.

The middies sprung a goat as their mascot, and for a while no cheer leader was necessary. Two bands squatted in opposite corners of the field, but were silent as they could not have been heard thirty feet away.

There was a general laugh and a mighty cheer when the goat, true to the traditions of the day, tried to break loose from the uniformed men leading him to make for the Army mule, who was lazily cropping at the turf on the side-lines.

The Army won the toss. A slight wind was blowing toward the east, and the Army chose to fight against the wind.

During the first period the soft field interfered time and again, when runners with the ball would have netted several yards or might even have gotten away for long runs, had they not slipped. The score at the end of the first quarter was Army, 0, Navy, 0.

During the first half Keyes, for the Army, was the most persistent gainer. He seemed able to find holes between tackle and end that were good for a few yards almost at will.

On the navy team McReavy was called on almost as often as Keyes. McReavy and Leonard were hard runners. The play was loose and only the wet field prevented runners getting away on two or three occasions. Markoe was in reach of a touchdown when he blocked Leonard's kick, but he was slow in getting under way and was overtaken on the ten yard line. Few complicated plays were used.

REPORT WILL BE FOR COMPETITION

Senator Cummins Is Writing Findings of Commerce Committee About the Trusts

IS AGAINST BULL-MOOSE PLAN

Iowan Is Strongly Opposed to Perkins' Scheme for "Legalized Monopoly"

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 30.—Shall the Sherman anti-trust law be repealed and in its place shall congress pass a law recognizing the trusts and monopolies as desired by George W. Perkins, the bull moose leader, or shall the Sherman law be amended to prevent unjust restraint of trade and insure the continuation of the policy of competition?

Favors Competition

Senator A. B. Cummins favors competition and has been busy writing what will probably be the report of the senate committee on interstate commerce. Cummins says that Perkins is sincere in his idea of recognizing monopolies, and regulating prices, but that it is wrong, revolutionary, would lead to pronounced socialistic practices which the Iowa senator opposes. It is the Perkins theory that trusts have come to stay and that they should not be attacked by the Sherman or any other law, but that prices should be regulated by commission or otherwise. Senator Cummins thinks the next step would be the regulation of wages by law, because wages are fixed b prices and this would be industrial socialism.

Senator Cummins refused to declare adhesion to the new progressive political party largely because this very issue would be raised over changes in the anti-trust laws.

Labor Not Trust

The problem of exempting labor organs from the operations of the anti-trust law is one sure to come up prominently. Senator Cummins leans to the view that there can be no monopoly of labor as there can be of certainproducts, therefore that labor organizations cannot, in the very nature of things, be like other organizations.

Upon this report which Senator Cummins has prepared, ready to take with him to Washington next week, will be framed legislation which will govern American commercial life for years to come, if adopted. It is proposed to so amend the Sherman law that all honest business men will know what is legal and what is not legal, and not have to wait until they are prosecuted in the courts to find out.

CHORUS GIRLS TO DANCE IN CHURCH

Minneapolis Pastor Illustrates Bad Dances by Living Models

TO PREACH ON "WIGGLE-JIGS"

Rev. G. L. Morrill Will Point His Discourse with Rythmic Wriggles

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 30.—With two chorus girls as demonstratrixes the Rev. G. L. Morrill, pastor of the People's church, of this city, will ask the men of his congregation Sunday to respond to the question: "Would you wish your mother, wife, sister, sweetheart or sweetheart's friend to do the turkey trot?"

Lest any be ignorant at this late day of the various dances composing the Federation of Affiliated Rags, towit: The Bunny Hug, Crab Crawl, Tortoise Tango and Tango Supreme, the preacher will illustrate his sermon with manifestations of the same operated by two kindly disposed young women selected from the chorus of a local burlesque theater.

"I propose to show my congregaton," says Rev. Morrill, "just how fashionable society carries on when it gets started.

"The young girls of my congregation contend that as long as the rag is done at the club houses it is all right.

"Well, I am going to show their brothers and fathers just what the rag is and how it looks. Enough said."

Therefore, in view of these attractions in store, policemen on the beat in and around the People's church are preparing for a big descent or seekers for a thrill on Sunday.

The chorus girls too are preparing to look as much like debutantes as possible in the new slit gowns affected this season.

HICKEY LIKELY TO PLEAD INSANITY

Confessed Murderer of Children to Claim He Is Not Responsible for Deeds

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 30.—J. Frank Hickey, child murderer, with the admission "I did it" and his defiance "What are you going to do about it?" has a fair chance of being adjudged insane, and may thus spend the rest of his days at Dannemora.

Hickey's salvation from the chair can be found nowhere save in a plea of insanity. As Hickey was requested that Ernest W. McIntyre be his lawyer, it is expected that the court will assign McIntyre to the work.

The prisoner will be formally arraigned on Monday on a charge of murder in the first degree for killing Joseph Josephs. He has been under observation by Dr. James W. Putnam for the last two days to determine his mental condition.

The confession of Hickey which was signed by the prisoner last night was for the greater part of a voluntary statement by the prisoner, pieced out by his answers to questions.

A third death caused by Hickey, according to his confession, was that of Edward Morey, at Lowell, Mass., 30 years ago. Morey was a man addicted to drink, Hickey's story says. The town has no license. To get the whiskey Morey hung around a drug store in which Hickey, then 17 years old, was a clerk. Hickey conceived the idea that by giving laudanum to Morey in whiskey he would make him sick and cure him of the drink habit. He did it and Morey died.

It's beside the straight path that the devil lurks to throw on the brers and tacks thickest.

ONLY NERVOUS

The sufferer from Neurasthenia (lack of nerve force) frequently places himself in the "only nervous" class. Let us see why he is nervous. That "born tired" feeling becomes chronic. Every little exertion of mind or body is followed by fatigue out of all proportion. He has a great deal of headache and frequently has backache. All manner of vague sensations, such as heat, cold, prickling, numbness, stiffness, soreness, pain and pressure felt in limbs or any part of the body. Eyes seem affected, sounds and smells may become exaggerated and any slight surprise produces a real nervous shock. He has nervous indigestion, with variable appetite and constipation, or diarrhœa is common. There is palpitation of the heart or pains around the heart annoy and distress the poor sufferer, who becomes from these accumulated troubles full of anxiety and fear. These sensations become symptoms of disease and in time the symptoms become chronic and if permitted to run their course, lead the victim into maladies which break down the nerve force so that he or she is unfit for work or pleasure. For the man or woman so afflicted to think there is nothing the matter is a serious injustice and a great injury.

Only Nervous? Diagnosis is difficult and that is why so many fail to cure neurasthenics. Nervousness is the costume and mask—the outward appearance so imperfectly seen and comprehended by the inexpert as regards its true significance, that what is beneath—the underlying cause for the trouble—is overlooked. If you are "only nervous" you must awaken to the dangers of neglecting the nervousness and you must not permit yourself to drift into conditions which will bring on maladies that will prove a menace to your future.

What is needed is sympathetic, skillful, prompt and continuous treatment. You can and must obtain relief. Consult the eminent Dr. Turbin, who visits our city once a month.

DR. TURBIN

Domestic Hints

(From The Scotch-American)

Apples should be freely eaten in winter. They stimulate the liver, which is apt to be made sluggish by cold weather.

After washing lace curtains lay a blanket on the floor in some empty room, spread the curtains on the blanket, stretching them carefully, and they will keep their place without any fastening until dried.

When knives that have been put away for a time have become rusty put the blades in sweet oil for half an hour, and then dig them in garden soil several times. Polish with fine emery cloth, and the blades should be brilliant.

Don't wrinkle the forehead when worried, or draw the brows together in a frown when out in a bright light. If the eyes are weak abjure small hats, and only wear broad-brimmed ones. Nothing ages a woman as much as deep ridges on the forehead.

Washing the hair tends to make it bright. Make a lather of pure soap and wash the hair thoroughly, rinsing it in plenty of soft water. When dry brush the hair well for a quarter of an hour, and it will look bright and will be quite easy to dress.

ENFRANCHISES QUEUED CHINKS

CHANGHAI, Nov. 30.—If President Yuan Shi Kai succeeds in enfranchising the Chinese who have not cut the queues, he can do anything, it was said here. Since the revolution there has not been such a commotion through China as followed today upon publication of the president's announcement that "the way a man wears his hair shall have nothing to do with determining his right to vote at the coming election."

Pat Again

An English tourist, who was telling an Irish peasant about the immense size of the British empire, said:

"Well, Pat, and do you know that the sun never sets on the King's dominions "

"No, your honor," replied Pat.

"Well, such is the case," went on the tourist. "But do you know the reason why?"

Pat immediately answered: "I suppose it is because heaven is afraid to trust an Englishman in the dark."

Politics and Prayers

Once when "Uncle Joe" Cannon was asked to make a prophecy regarding the outcome of the elections, he threw up his hands in despair and said he had done with prophesying, adding that he was neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet. His plight, he said, concerning prophecy reminded him of the old woman and her praying for help when she was in a runaway.

"I prayed to God till the breechin' broke," explained this old lady, "and then I just gin up."—The Popular Magazine.

Overdoing It

Woodrow Wilson, at a luncheon in Spring Lake, said of a boy athlete, according to the San Francisco Chronicle:

"I am afraid he sets athletics too far above English, mathematics and history. His aunt said to him the other day:

"'I'm delighted to hear of your success on the school baseball team, Harold, but you must remember that there are other things in life besides baseball.'

"'Yes, aunt, I know,' said the boy, 'but, hang it all, I'm afraid I'm too light for football or rowing.'"

A Culinary Demand

"Sure, mum," said the new cook, suddenly appearing in the doorway, "could I be afther borryin' th' boss's safety razor for a little whoile?"

"Sure, mum, I want to shave that rabbit before I stew him."—Harper's Weekly.

CHURCH NEWS

Will England Control Palestine?

Church people profess to see, as a possible outcome of the Balkan war, control by England of Palestine and its Christian treasure, with the expulsion of the Moslem from Europe, or at most a mere footing of Constantinople, Moslem political power no longer controls any territory in the whole world save the small corner of Asia that borders on the Mediterranean, Black and Caspian seas. Part of Arabia, touching the Red sea, is desert.

Within the last few decades, some of it within the year, Christian political powers have taken over countries formerly governed by Moslem power. England took Egypt, France took Algiers and Morrocco, Russia controls Persia. Italy has just taken Tripoli, and now the Greek Christians, in the name of the Bulgarian and Servian allies, take Turkey in Europe. Influence is now sought to induce England, in the final negotiations, to take steps to rescue Jerusalem from Islam control. There would then remain but little of the earth's surface politically under Moslem power. Much has been done within the decade in Palestine to modernize transportation. Not only is Christian interest great in Palestine, but there is also to be gained the opening up of the historic region, impossible under Turkish rule, to trolley lines and clean hotels.

Big Federal Council Meeting

Vice President-elect Marshall of Indiana is to be a speaker on the subject of Christian Unity at a mass meeting to be held in Chicago on December 6, as part of the second general conference of the Federal Council of the Churches. The immediate phase of the subject will be the young people. The Rev. Dr. W. C. Bitting of St. Louis, will be another speaker, with the vice president, and on the same subject. Allied with this unity topic are to be discussed such ones as temperance, the family life, and Sabbath observance.

College Men And Social Service

The student department of the International Committee Y. M. C. A. has just established a social service division. This is declared by its new secretaries to be a definite enlargement both of the message and the program of the student associations. The secretaries of the new divisions contemplate a production of text books for the study of social service, and especially of the questions of social justice. These will be adapted to college students. There will be an increase in the number of social service and social justice addresses to be given in educational institutes by leading social workers and others under association direction.

Methodists to Have New Headquarters

An outcome of the meeting of the general committee of Methodist Home Missions, just held in Newark, is the determination to erect in Philadelphia a new Methodist headquarters building to replace the outgrown one in Arch street in that city. Such building will follow, not the plans of the New York Book concern, but more nearly those of the Tnglish Wesleyans. The latter have created in many principal English cities Wesleyan Halls, which are business blocks and city social centers. The Philadelphia plan will follow the English one, and Methodists have an ambition to erect similar Wesleyan Halls in some other cities, notably Boston, Baltimore, St. Louis, Washing and Chicago as local interests find themselves able.

A Safe Old-fashioned Remedy Quickly Relieves All Distressing Symptoms.

If you are subject to frequent colds, or if you have any of the distressing symptoms of catarrh, such as stuffed up feeling in the head, profuse discharge from the nose, sores in the nose, phlegm in the throat causing hawking and spitting, dull pain in the head or ringing in the ears, just anoint the nostrils or rub the throat or chest with a little Ely's Cream Balm, and see how quickly you will get relief.

In a few minutes you will feel your head clearing, and after using the Balm for a day or so the nasty discharge will be checked, the pain, soreness and fever gone, and you will no longer be offensive to yourself and your friends by constantly hawking, spitting and blowing.

Shake off the grip of catarrh before it impairs your sense of taste, smell and hearing and poisons your whole system. In a short time you can be completely cured of this distressing disease by using Ely's Cream Balm. This healing, antiseptic Balm does not fool you by short, deceptive relief, but completely overcomes the disease. KARL THIMMISCH DIES AT CALEDONIA

CALEDONIA, Minn., Nov. 30. — Karl Thimmisch died at his home in this city Monday evening after being laid up only a few days.

Deceased was born in Uelm, Luxemburg, Europe, on November 11, 1825. He came to America in the year 1849 and settled in Jackson county, Iowa. He was married at that place the following year to Miss Mary Maudress. In 1857 they moved to St. Paul and settled on a claim which they occupied until the year 1859, when they moved to Freeburg. Two years later they came to Caledonia and occupied different farms in this vicinity, and he was actively engaged in the work of farming up to about twelve years ago, when they moved to Caledonia to live and erected a nice home for themselves.

Mr. Thimmisch was a strong, robust man and a genuine type of the sturdy pioneers who first settled here. He cast his first vote for Zachary Taylor for president of the United States and since then has never failed to express his choice for that office at every election, including the recent one.

The funeral took place Thursday morning at 9:30 from St. Peter's German Catholic church. Those who acted as pallbearers are Clem Hundt, Philip Schwebach, Frank Buog, Matt. Schiltz, Nick Reinhart and Wm. Schauls.

Some men are good losers, no doubt, because of long and persistent practice in that line.

"All is Well That Ends Well"

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness, sleeplessness and general ill health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be assimilated and carried to the blood. On the other hand, the blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion. In turn, the nerves are not fed on good, red blood and we see those symptoms of nervous breakdown. It is not head work that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip—bronchitis—consumption. Fortify the body now with

THE VALIANTS of VIRGINIA

A GREAT SUCCESS

By HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

More thoroughly characteristic of its author than even her great success, Satan Sanderson, the new novel, The Valiants of Virginia, is Hallie Erminie Rives from the first word to the last. Charming in atmosphere, original and striking in its character values, it should take high place among the Rives romances, if not indeed the highest place.

Never has its author shown a more ardent purpose, a more spirited execution, greater facility of treatment. It is richly and variously colored, and it is marked by the greatest dynamic energy and brilliancy of phase.

NEWS OF TYPHOON DAMAGE MEAGER

Communication Is Destroyed and Extent of Loss Is Still Uncertain

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Scattered wireless messages received at Manila from vessels near the path of the disastrous typhoon which swept over the Visayas, and cabled here today are the first reports of heavy casualties due to the catastrophe.

Beyond a meagre dispatch early today from the governor general of the Philippines, stating that he had rushed a relief transport to each of the afflicted islands, the bureau of insular affairs has received no further official word of the disaster.

The war department today cabled government officials at Manila for information as to the damage done to the railroad across Iloilo, which has its terminal at Capiz. It is feared that it has been greatly damaged.

The United States cruiser Cincinnati has been rushed to Capiz to establish wireless communication between Manila and the devastated section. Until she arrives there, Sunday morning, by Washington time, it will be impossible to secure any further particulars to theh extent of the damage done.

Unofficial reports received by the navy department indicate that many Pacific coast vessels plying in eastern waters, were in the path of the typhoon. It is feared that some of them may have been damaged.

17 HUNTERS ARE KILLED

FEW DEER BUT MANY MEN KILLED DURING OPEN SEASON IN MICHIGAN

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 30.—Michigan's deer season closed today. It was a poor season from the hunter's standpoint, because owing to the lack of "tracking" snow, not many deer were killed.

But seventeen human lives were sacrificed to the sport. Half a hundred of the northern Michigan hunters were wounded, of whom several may die. These numbers, too, are lower than for the average season.

May Charity, Justice and Brotherly Love
At last lead us all to the Grand Lodge above."

OLD LANDMARK IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

WAUKON, Iowa, Nov. 30.—A fire that called out nearly the whole town was caused Saturday about 3 p. m. by an auto explosion in Dr. Earle's barn. Mr. Fasse takes care of Carleton Earle's white steamer and was cleaning it when in some way the gasoline took fire. He tried to run the car out of the barn door but a terrific explosion filled the barn with flame and smoke. Mr. Fasse escaped by going through a window. A second explosion followed and the noise and dense smoke aroused the neighborhood. Help was soon on hand but nothing could be done for the barn and only by the hardest work could they save the houses of Dr. Bowen and H. H. Stilwell and the Haines tenements, occupied by Mr. A. B. Clark, Dr. Knight and Mr. Miranda. The fine team owned by P. A. Heiser had just been driven in by him about twenty minutes before and were smothered by the smoke when the firemen got there. The roofs of the neighboring barns and houses were several times on fire as well as the clothing of the men working to save them. The high northwest wind made the burning shingles carry far.

The barn is an old landmark, being used as a mill in the early days. It was so large it served as a store house for many things. Everything in it was burned. The Daulton barn which was nearest, also burned, but Miss Daulton saved all her fine chickens.

The N. C. club held its philanthropic day Saturday sewing for the Des Moines home. They had a picnic supper with Miss Lewis.

Little John Stilwell swallowed some kerosene by mistake Saturday but except for a little inconvenience after the doctor had interviewed him, he seems to be all right.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Gibbs went to Lansford, N. D., for a week's visit with their youngest daughter, Mrs. Jesse Banks.

The mumps are having a fine time with the pupils in Nos. 1, 2 and 3 and an occasional one higher up who escaped in former years.

Mrs. H. H. Stilwell came home from the Clark sanitarium for Thanksgiving. She is deriving much benefit from the treatment she is receiving there.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hager autoed to Decorah Monday. Miss Kleespie, principal of the high school, went with them to visit the school there.

A little daughter came to make happy the home of C. H. Hale and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow sold their home on East Pleasant street and will live in the Medary home until they decide as to their future residence.

Mrs. C. D. Beeman is recovering from her serious illness. Her two sons came from Vermont but returned Monday.

Henpeckke—"I feel like a hypocrite." Wigwag—"What have you been doing?" Henpeckke—"Offering my congratulations to a bride and groom."

FEEL BULLY! HEAD CLEAR, STOMACH SWEET, BOWELS RIGHT—"CASCARETS"

Young men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, and are all worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely dosing yourself every few days with salts, cathartic pills, castor oil and other harsh irritants?

Cascarets immediately cleanse and sweeten the stomach, remove the sour undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10 cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel cheerful and bully for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

PHYSICIAN WHO REMARRIED SOON AFTER WIFE'S DEATH INDICTED FOR MURDER

Mrs. Florence Cavileer Smith and Dr. Arthur B. Smith.

Dr. Arthur B. Smith, forty-five, of Springfield, O., is in jail charged with first degree murder. On March 18 last, his first wife, Mrs. Florence Cavileer Smith, died suddenly. Shortly thereafter he remarried. Later, Springfield authorities became suspicious and had the first Mrs. Smith's body exhumed and the stomach examined by experts. Then a special grand jury was called, which indicted Smith on a charge of poisoning his first wife. He is held without bail.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—There was a narrow range in wheat prices today. Cables were unexpectedly firm and there was not a great deal of pressure. Commission houses were fair buyers on the dip. The extension of the export rate on wheat by way of the gulf from December 1 to March 31, was considered a bullish factor. Sales were 50,000 bushels.

The tone of the corn market was firm. Indications of a change in weather conditions helped the bulls. Sales were 135,000 bushels.

There was a fair buying of December oats by cash houses. The general trade was quiet, sales were 245,000 bushels.

After a weak opening, provisions steadied and closed at prices about even with yesterday's close.

TINKER WILL NOT PLAY WITH CUBS

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Joseph Faversham Tinker, erstwhile Cub stortstop, will stay out of baseball for a year, according to an announcement which he authorized today. Instead of working between second and third base, he will work between the right and left entrances in vaudeville theaters.

Joe today began looking for bookings that will enable him to keep the wolf from the door next summer. He did not save enough of his earnings last summer to live through a whole year, he said, but he will not play with the Cubs, even if he is offered a contract calling for $15,000 for the season.

Tinker wanted to be manager of the Cincinnati Reds. He did not get the job.

"BIG NINE" IN MEET

SUMMER BASEBALL AND RECRUITING OF ATHLETES ARE TO BE DISCUSSED

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—When the "Big Nine" conference representatives met here, they planned to consider summer baseball, recruiting of athletes, purifying athletics and minor rules. They may discuss the possible return of Michigan university to the fold. Most of the conference universities' students favor the return of the Wolverines.

"Profs" made up the conference committee this year for the first time. Rules are expected to have more weight with them than student desire and enthusiasm. Because of Michigan's liberal training table policy and regent system of governing athletics, those who want Michigan in the conference are not optimistic. They hope for a discussion as an opening wedge, but would not predict even that.

The university of Chicago's representative, Dean Small, is known to be opposed to any more liberal policy for the conference. Others are believed to stand with him. Illinois is anxious to invite Michigan. The college papers want to make it a "Big Ten." Their representatives met before the conference opens and prepared for lobby work.

Illinois also wants summer baseball. It favors lenient rules, allowing college men to make winter expenses on the summer diamond.

OSHKOSH WINS THE STATE TITLE 28 TO 0

OSHKOSH, Wis., Nov. 30.—Oshkosh won the state high school title from Janesville, 28 to 0. Spectacular forward passes and long end runs on fake punts by Oshkosh gained most ground. Simpson made the first touchdown in the first period and Webster duplicated it late in the half on a forward pass. Janesville had the ball on the four yard line at the end of the third period. Oshkosh scored two touchdowns in the last quarter on straight football. Simpson kicked four goals. Oshkosh lost over a hundred yards on penalties. Simpson, Webster, Wenzel and Priebe starred for Oshkosh and Falter for Janesville. Oshkosh has not lost a game in five years.

NELSON TO BE IN GAME THIS YEAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Battling Nelson, confident as over after his battle with Leach Cross, was continuing his plans today for a busy winter in the ring. He will fight at least three times within the next two weeks. He says he will keep himself in shape by constant battles. Aside from a slight swelling over his left eye, he showed no marks of Thursday's fight and his hands survived the battle in good style.

JONES OFFERS BIG BET ON WOLGAST

Would Put Up $25,000 that Ad Can Beat Ritchie in a Return Match

RITCHIE TO APPEAR ON THE STAGE

Will Take Theatrical Offer Before Defending Title; Ad and Jones Sore at Referee

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 30.—Tom Jones, Wolgast's manager, met Billy Nolan, Ritchie's manager, in Coffroth's office yesterday and offered to bet Nolan $25,000 to $12,500 that Wolgast could beat Ritchie in a return match on Washington's birthday. Nolan refused to listen to the proposition, declaring that he wanted to give Ritchie a chance to pick up some "easy money" on the stage before having him defend his new title.

Jones pressed the point and said he would let Ritchie come in at catch weights at the same offer, but Nolan was in no mood to listen. Jones continued to plead for a return match for Wolgast and finally Nolan declared that he would put Wolgast's application on file.

With wonderful persistence Jones still pressed the point, and finally Nolan declared that he would give Wolgast a match within a year. This was the best that Nolan would promise Jones and he made even this slight concession reluctantly.

Jones and Wolgast Sore at Griffin

Both Jones and Wolgast are sore at Griffin. Jones declared that he had been given a very bad deal and put it in language so strong it would have to go through a fumigator before admission to any public print.

Wolgast, too, is bemoaning his tough luck and claims that he was as strong at the finish as he had been during the entire contest. He says the only blow that hurt him was the right hand smash on the jaw in the sixteenth round, but that he was regaining his strength as the round progressed and would have eventually turned the tide in his favor.

WOLVERINES MAY JOIN CONFERENCE

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—When the representatives of the universities in the Big Nine conference resumed their meeting today, the first matter scheduled to come up was the admission of Michigan to the conference. No overtures by the Wolverines had been made when the session was called to order, but it was expected that a representative of one of the present members would propose the admission of Michigan.

Whatever action is taken by the conference delegates will be referred to the board of control of the different colleges and then will come before the conference committe for final disposal.
